

The Family Birth and Newborn Center at LVH-Schuylkill represents one of the remaining elements of an overall, multiyear campus integration designed to align service locations and improve access for those who seek care.

Services will begin at the center following all state inspections.

Sage Design-Build working on project for Curtiss Wright

Sage Design-Build Inc. of Allentown, has completed the design and is in the middle of construction of a testing facility for Curtiss Wright Corp.'s engineered pump division. The Bethlehem facility is scheduled for completion in the spring and is the second project Sage has been contracted to do for Curtiss Wright.

Curtiss-Wright, headquartered in North Carolina, provides solutions for "must not fail" applications. The company's defense segment provides the United States and several international defense forces with naval, aerospace and ground defense systems, support and solutions.
